

Camera and AV Equipment Rental Agreement

This Camera and AV Equipment Rental Agreement (the Agreement) is between the Lessor and the Renter identified in the Parties section. They agree to the following terms.

1. Equipment and accessories

The Lessor rents to the Renter the following equipment: _____, brand _____, model _____ (the Equipment). The Equipment also includes any lenses, microphones, monitors, cables, batteries, chargers, cases, mounts, or other items specifically recorded in the Details section or attached Items appendix.

Any description, serial number, accessory list, replacement value, condition notes, and photographs recorded in this Agreement identify what is supplied and its condition at handover. An accessory not listed or handed over is not automatically included. The Parties should inspect and, where practical, test the Equipment together at handover.

2. Rental period and handover

The rental period is _____. The Equipment will be handed over and returned at the times and places agreed by the Parties before handover. The Renter will return all supplied Equipment and accessories no later than the end of the rental period unless the Parties agree to an extension.

The Renter will notify the Lessor as soon as reasonably possible if a delay or difficulty returning any item is expected.

3. Fees, payment, and deposit

The agreed rental fee for the rental period is _____. Unless the Parties agree otherwise, payment is due at handover. If a security deposit is recorded in the Details section, it is payable at handover and serves as security for amounts lawfully owed under this Agreement, not as an automatic or non-refundable charge.

The Lessor will return any deposit balance within the period required by applicable law after the Equipment is returned, explaining and supporting any deduction. Ordinary wear and tear is not a basis for a deduction. No additional charge is due unless agreed or permitted by applicable law.

4. Working condition and instructions

The Lessor will provide the Equipment in a condition suitable for the agreed use, disclose known material faults, and explain any important handling, power, or safety instructions. The Parties should check visible condition and basic operation at handover where practical and record pre-existing damage or missing components.

The Renter will promptly report any fault, unexpected shutdown, damage, or missing part discovered during the rental, and will stop using Equipment where continued use could be unsafe or cause further damage. Condition photographs, if taken, form part of the photo appendix.

5. Use, handling, and protection

The Renter will use the Equipment with reasonable care, for its intended purpose, and in accordance with instructions provided by the Lessor or manufacturer. The Renter will take reasonable precautions against theft, impacts, moisture, dust, excessive heat, and other conditions likely to damage the Equipment, and will transport and store it securely.

The Renter must not sell, pledge, sublet, substantially modify, or disassemble the Equipment without the Lessor's consent. Repairs and internal cleaning must not be attempted without the Lessor's agreement, except for urgent action reasonably needed to prevent further harm. Where batteries, chargers, or power supplies are included, the Renter will use compatible equipment and follow the manufacturer's safety instructions.

6. Memory cards, recordings, and personal data

The Renter is responsible for making and keeping appropriate backups of recordings, photographs, and other files created during the rental. Unless the Parties agree otherwise, the Renter should remove personally owned memory cards, storage devices, and personal accounts before return, and should back up and remove personal files stored on the rented Equipment where practical.

The Lessor will not intentionally access, copy, or disclose the Renter's private recordings or personal information except where necessary to comply with applicable law. Nothing in this section removes either Party's rights or duties under data protection or other mandatory laws.

7. Software and third-party rights

The rental does not transfer ownership of any software, firmware, recordings, music, or other third-party intellectual property. The Renter will use any supplied software or connected services in accordance with their applicable licence terms and will not knowingly use the Equipment to infringe another person's rights.

8. Loss, theft, and damage

The Renter will promptly notify the Lessor if any Equipment is lost, stolen, or damaged, and report theft to the police where required or reasonably appropriate. The Renter is responsible for loss or damage to the extent resulting from misuse, failure to take reasonable care, or other conduct for which the Renter is legally responsible.

The Renter is not responsible under this clause for ordinary wear and tear, faults existing at handover, or failures not attributable to the Renter. Compensation must reflect reasonable, proven repair costs or actual loss, as permitted by law. A replacement value entered in the Details section is an estimate and does not by itself establish the amount payable.

9. Faults and interruption of use

If the Equipment develops a fault not caused by the Renter, the Parties will cooperate on a reasonable solution, which may include repair, replacement, an appropriate adjustment to the rental fee, or early return. The Renter should not continue operating faulty Equipment where doing so risks further damage or injury. Neither Party loses a mandatory legal right or remedy under this section.

10. Return and inspection

At the end of the rental, the Renter will return the Equipment complete with all supplied accessories, cables, batteries, chargers, cases, and other items, in substantially the condition received, allowing for ordinary wear and tear. The Parties should inspect the returned Equipment and record any missing items or new damage.

The Lessor will notify the Renter of any claimed loss or damage within a reasonable time and provide an explanation and available supporting evidence. The same loss must not be recovered twice through overlapping charges or deposit deductions.

11. Changes, early ending, and general terms

The Parties may change or extend the rental by mutual agreement. Either Party may end the rental for a serious breach after complying with any notice or opportunity to remedy required by applicable law. Fees, refunds, and any compensation following an early end will be determined by the circumstances and applicable law.

Any completed special terms in the Details section are part of this Agreement. The Parties should resolve any inconsistency between those terms and this text before signing. This text, the completed Details section, the Parties section, and any Items and photo appendices together form the Agreement. Nothing in it excludes rights or liability that cannot lawfully be excluded or limited. If a provision is unenforceable, the remaining provisions apply as far as the law permits. Changes after signing should be recorded and agreed to by both Parties in a form permitted by applicable law.
