

Electronics Rental Agreement

This Agreement is made between the Lessor and the Renter identified in the Parties section.

1. Rented electronics

The Lessor rents _____, _____ (the "Device"). Any serial number, accessories, power supplies, condition photographs, or other equipment details are recorded in the Details, Items, or photo appendices when supplied. The Lessor must provide a Device in working condition for the agreed ordinary use, with appropriate chargers and safety instructions.

2. Rental period and price

The Device is rented for _____ for a fee of _____. Any deposit, agreed method of payment, delivery conditions, or additional instructions may be recorded in the Details section. The Parties must agree to an extension before the rental period ends.

3. Proper use

The Renter must handle the Device carefully, keep it reasonably secure, and follow the manufacturer's safety and charging guidance. The Device must not be dismantled, altered, used with unsafe power equipment, or exposed to unsuitable liquids, heat, or physical conditions. The Renter must not lend, sell, pledge, or rent the Device to another person without permission.

The Lessor shall disclose known defects and any material restrictions on use. If the Device becomes unsafe or ceases to work, the Renter must stop using it where necessary and inform the Lessor promptly. Repairs require the Lessor's consent unless urgent action is reasonably necessary for safety.

4. Accounts, software, and data

The Renter remains responsible for their own accounts, files, and lawful use of installed software, subject to applicable data-protection and consumer law. The Renter must not intentionally access the Lessor's private accounts, bypass security protections, or install unlawful software. Software or content licences are not transferred unless the relevant licence permits it.

Before return, the Renter should back up personal information and sign out of accounts and services. The Parties should agree how personal data will be removed from the Device. The Lessor must not access or disclose the Renter's personal information without a lawful basis. A factory reset must be coordinated when it could erase data needed by either Party.

5. Loss, damage, and malfunction

The Renter shall promptly report theft, damage, missing accessories, or malfunction. Losses are assessed on evidence, the Parties' responsibilities, available insurance, and applicable law. The Renter is not automatically liable for normal wear, pre-existing defects, or failure not caused by misuse. Reasonable repair or replacement costs may be recoverable only where the Renter is lawfully responsible.

6. Return and inspection

The Device, all agreed accessories, and any supplied storage media must be returned at the agreed time. The Parties should inspect physical condition, functionality, and completeness together. A deposit, if agreed, must be returned less only lawful, adequately explained deductions. Normal use does not require the Device to be returned in unused condition.

7. Termination and record

Legal rights concerning defects, early termination, and refunds remain unaffected. The Agreement includes its completed Details, Parties, Items, and photo appendices. Mandatory legal rights take precedence over conflicting terms.
